AT THE THEATRES

AT THE MAJESTIC

Another big Sullivan & Crandall offering is at the Majestic, starting at 8:30 this afternoon for the first half of the week. The bill which closed at the Majestic yesterday was one of the finest ever seen in south-western vaudeville circuits, each act having been a feature.

An unusually splendid program is offered beginning today. Leading the bill are the Four Scotch Maids, of international note, who appear in singing, dancing and burlesque. A true portrayal of the real Scotch dance is one of the big features of this act, while the favorite songs of the heathery Scotland homeland and the famous war tunes which were piped over hill and dale in the stirring times of the Thos. McDonalds and Bruce, are again played over.

An act that is a distinctive feature from every angle is that of Thos. Sims, the famous comedy cartoonist. He draws pictures of everything and everybody, and he carries on a line of jokes that keeps you bubbling over. Besides amusing the audience in that way, even he himself acknowledged that he likes to sing.

As something new and something that will make you laugh until the weeps are shining down the side of your face, leave Rafael & company have it. The act is a spectacular ventriloquist novelty with a stage setting which within itself excites your senses wonderfully. When the dummies get under full headway of talk, the crowd knows there's something doing. You'll love the act from the first.

Rudolph & Lena appear in singing niftiness and are yodellers bound to please.

The Majestic has recently increased its seating capacity—one of the signs of winning bookings from the famous Sullivan & Crandall circuit.

At the Wonderland

Running today and tomorrow at the Wonderland is one of the thrilling detective plays in the Warner Feature Films.

This play is in four parts and has enough baffling situations to keep you puzzled for a lifetime. You think you see the end. The master is in the city of Paris and is known as "The Black Scourge."

With Monsieur Argilliere playing the part of the famous sinner, or failed Parisian bandit. The entire play is but one constant battle of wits between the famous Paris bandit and the detectives who dog his footsteps at each turn and give him no peace or rest. It abounds in thrilling situations, and the production cost several times as much as most similar plays. There is a thrill in every act, an action follows sensation and the situations are most thrilling. If you like a detective play that has a punch straight from the shoulder all the way through it, you'll like "The Black Scourge."

In vaudeville, the Two Bergins will please and delight you at the piano and violin. Eccentric piano playing is one of the features of this splendid act, while violin playing in the new act selections is at the first.

Darham and Vant sing and talk, and then recovers it into talking and singing. They come highly recommended as putting new and nifty original touch.

The pictures which the Wonderland

Little Mary Pickford, Famous Star, in "Caprice" at the Palace Theatre Tomorrow and Tuesday

is showing are practically all based on historical facts, or upon themes which have attracted the attention of the entire world at some time or other. Each of them is a feature, none are less than three reels in length, and you get the entire story from beginning to end in its every detail, the women stars, standing up splendidly all the way through.

At the Lyric

Today at the Lyric in a Rex drama, Louis Wolsey and Phillips Smalley will appear in "James Lee's Wife." This is an adaptation from the poem by the same name which helped to make Robert Browning, the most poet, famous. The plot is laid on a lonely sea coast, where a world-weary couple find heart ease. James Lee is an artist, light and selfish. His wife is that fresh type of woman who lives intensely and feels deeply. The artist finds in a pretty millmaid a model, but she shrinks from him and returns to her fisherman lover.

In the artist a deep love for his own wife is awakened which he had never felt before. He searches for her, and in a homesome spot in the rocks where the waves break the artist finds his wife, and the reunion occurs.

"A Pair of Bears" is a clever comedy to show at the Lyric today, showing a bear running wild through a village, and while becomes hero by capturing and taming the bear. The usual Animated Weekly in interesting and intellectual subjects will be shown.

In vaudeville for the first half of the week the Lyric will show Al and Iva Phillips in comedy singing, talking and dancing, a highly recommended act. The Canadian Romantics, Scotch dancers and singers will also be on the Lyric's vaudeville program for the first half of the week.

The Lyric is the popular movie and vaudeville house of Tulsa and it is indeed an ill wind that blows nobody good when this playhouse fails to please its hundreds at each performance. Nothing but the best of pictures, featuring noted movie stars, are shown, while the vaudeville is of the refined type.

At the Orpheum

Opening at matinee this afternoon, the Orpheum is offering as the headliner, Lee Chee Fai company, four Japanese appearing in magic and illusion. They feature all of the mysteries which for thousands of years have been handed down from generation to generation in the little island empire, and their tricks of legerdemain and sleight-of-hand are wonderfully deceiving to the eye. This is one of the classic acts of similar nature abroad, and the Orpheum offers it as one of the best attractions on a splendid first half week bill.

The Gate City trio, three persons of the four who formerly constituted the old Gate City quartette, are at the Orpheum today. They are comedy harmony singers and put their voices into song that are pleasing and which you will like.

As an extreme oddity on the present program appears Fred Swift, famous the country over as "The Medical Pig." His act is a funny one, he acts all kinds of music out of all kinds of things, and you'll smile many a laugh if you fail to see him.

Reynolds & Davis have an entirely new brand of vaudeville, and the only word which has been found to describe it is the one of "novelty." That means that it's strange and new and therefore bound to be interesting.

De Vere Brothers have a good act in comedy acrobatics.

Featuring at all times the best there is in moving pictures and using the Simplex perfect projection, the movie program at the Orpheum is ever unsurpassed. The Orpheum orchestra under the direction of Prof. F. V. Brady is always at its best in the newest and catchiest selections, and most of the whistleable tunes you hear about Tulsa get their start at this palace of vaudeville.

MRS. EMALINE PANKHURST.

So as to prevent the English government selling the money on a technical charge, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst has deposited to her credit at the Leonards, in Paris, the $20,000 which she recently collected in the United States to be used in promoting the suffrage cause in England. The same bank holds in the name of Christabel Pankhurst the secret campaign fund of the militant English suffragettes which the English authorities have been searching for with a view to attaching it.

Mercantile, of Monterey, Mexico, capitalized at 2,500,000 pesos, and with a surplus of 500,000 pesos, closed its doors yesterday. It was learned here today. The bank is perfectly solvent and closed with the consent of the government. The closing, it is said, was due to the unsettled conditions in the republic. But one bank is now open in Monterey.
